

Looking for success?

ABB AL-EMS at Alustockach GmbH

"This new technology coincides with our company's ambition to position us as a leader in technical improvements, further strengthen our competitiveness and create a better work environment", says Mr. Michael Schwalbe, Managing Director of Alustockach GmbH, Germany.

The installation of the electromagnetic stirring system specifically designed for Alustockach's new tilting hearth furnace has been a great success. Increased production and yield; better chemical and thermal homogenization; improved work environment with less splashing; less manual work thanks to easier and faster skimming of dross are some of the achievements.

Visit us at www.abb.com/metals