

Powering a World Heritage Site
while reducing fossil fuel usage

Microgrid safely powers Robben Island

Robben Island, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and former prison that receives up to 2,000 visitors a day, is drastically reducing their diesel consumption by deploying a microgrid solution.

The island now operates on solar power for at least nine months out of the year. Due to treacherous currents, it is safely operated remotely.

Robben Island,
South Africa