What we do in Memphis

ABB Memphis is the global headquarters for ABB's Installation Products business, whose legacy goes back to 1898 (Thomas & Betts). Installation Products provides a wide variety of electrical equipment and components that safely and reliably electrify homes, businesses, transportation, utilities, and industry. ABB's technology and equipment connects, protects, and optimizes electricity from power generation to the outlet.

Who we serve

Our customers range from electricians and builders of homes and public infrastructure to industrial and commercial manufacturers and utilities. Many of our products can be purchased at local hardware stores nationwide, as well as through electrical distributors.

ABB in the U.S.
